

PORTLAND, OREGON
JOIN US TO HELP “KEEP PORTLAND WEIRD”
An ICAEF Culinary Learning Journey
June 17 to 21, 2019

Portland is weird and we’re counting on you to help us keep it that way.... And we think we have chosen the perfect group of people to do just that!

The ICAEF is once again going to be leading you on an incredible culinary adventure – and this time, you don’t even have to leave the country.

Our adventure starts at cocktail time on Monday, June 17. Join us on the roof deck of our fabulous downtown hotel for sweeping views from Mt. Hood to the Willamette Valley – and of course, all of downtown Portland. Knowing that this group may enjoy a cocktail or two, tonight’s adventure brings you for one cocktail party to another cocktail dinner party – and yes, on another city roof-top, where a local caterer will wine and dine us.

If you have traveled with the ICAEF before, you know we have put you on trains, planes, boats, bikes, zip-lines, cable cars, sea planes and even goldolias... but nothing will compare with this. That’s right... one morning we’ll be boarding HOT AIR BALLOONS for a ride from Portland to a Willamette Valley Winery. Landing at the winery, a catered luncheon will be awaiting us. But don’t go getting all nervous on us just yet...

For those of you who prefer to have their feet firmly planted in terra firma, other activities are available that morning – and a short bus ride will bring you to the winery to join the rest of the group for lunch.

And what a winery this is... With Mt. Hood looming in the background, our catered luncheon today, will be set among the grape vines. (Think “Sonoma meets Provence”)

So maybe a hot air balloon is not for you. How do you feel about a train? Our group will be taking an incredible train ride throughout the valley to Tillamook – where we will visit the Tillamook cheese factory. From there, our scenic adventure continues to the Oregon coast. This train ride will show you Oregon from the mountains to the sea – and all of the incredible scenery along the way.

O.K.... so maybe trains are not the answer either... How do you feel about boats? Can you picture yourself on a luxury yacht, cruising on the Columbia River? No? How about if we told you we'll be stopping for dinner at one of Portland's finest Riverfront restaurants? Ha. I knew we would get you.

But doesn't cruising make you thirsty? No problema. With nearly 80 breweries in Portland alone, you certainly don't need to leave the city to find great beer. But if you're up for an adventure, we found we're willing to try many of these breweries (no, sorry, not all 80.)

So now you have heard about trains, boats and balloons.... And you know about wine and beer.... But WHERE'S THE FOOD?

For the food adventures, we're going on foot (unless we can find rickshaws to take us around.) Portland is an incredible food town. Not only is it home to the Food Truck craze that is sweeping the nation, but every Portlander will tell you, it's all about the doughnuts! However, due to Oregon's strategic position on the Pacific coast, we're also going to learn a lot about Pacific Seafood's traceability and sustainable harvesting, processing and distributing. Of course sustainability is also the key when it comes to farm to fork dining in Portland – and we'll be visiting with local farmers, right on their farms.

Portlanders love the outdoors — so much so that even when they're enjoying inside activities, they're much happier doing them outside. For example, on a one-block stretch of Southwest Ankeny Street between Second and Third avenues in Old Town, picnic tables trump pick-up trucks, since the cobblestone alley has been closed to traffic. Instead, under a lattice of white twinkle lights, revelers enjoy cocktails, dinner and, perhaps most of all - doughnuts.

The culinary journey ends with a gala dinner on Thursday, June 20 – and guests should plan to arrange flights anytime after breakfast on Friday, June 21.
